DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 16 June 2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 32-34 and 37-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The new limitations reciting an elongated attachment edge at which the flap attaches to the lumbar support element, and the medial axis of the flap portions that extends approximately normal to the attachment edge and extending substantially vertical are not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the art that the inventor had possession of the claimed invention at the time the application was filed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 32-51, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,651,583 to Klingler et al.

Klingler et al. disclose a lumbar support that includes all the limitations recited in claims 32-51, as best understood. Klingler et al. show a lumbar support having a lumbar support element (Fig. 5) being flexible through a range of flexion and including upper and lower portions (Fig. 5), an adjustment device operatively engaged with the upper and lower portions of the lumbar support element such that the adjustment of the adjustment device varies the flexion, and a plurality of two flap portions wherein at least two flap portions 22 (Fig. 5) being disposed in opposite directions, oriented vertically, and defined by slots 21 (Fig. 5) in the lumbar support element such that the flap portions are circumscribed by the lumbar support element, the slots are a combination of an open polygon and an open curve, the flap portions have a resilience remaining substantially unchanged throughout the range of flexion of the lumbar support element, the lumbar support element has a variable resilience such that increased flexion stiffens variable resilience of the lumbar support element, and the flap portions are made of plastic.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 52 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Klingler et al.

Although the material of the flaps is not specifically recited as sheet metal, modifying the material would have been obvious at the time of Applicant's invention because the use of preferred materials discovered by routine experimentation is ordinarily within the skill of the art. Further, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the material of the flaps since the Applicant has not disclosed that having the specific sheet metal solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the flaps would perform equally well with an well known material used in the art.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 16 June 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the flap portions of Klingler et al. lack vertically oriented medial axes. However, the flap portions of Klingler et al., as well as the flap portions of the instant application, have both vertically and horizontally oriented medial axes. Therefore, the rejection of claims 32-42, as best understood, is maintained and the new claims 43-52 are rejected. Also, Examiner reasonably interprets "circumscribed" as being to constrict the range or activity of definitely and clearly, as defined by Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, Tenth Edition. Therefore, the central flap portions shown in Klingler et al. are circumscribed by the lumbar support element via the neighboring flap portions and connecting length.

Conclusion

9. This is a continuation of applicant's earlier application. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
